Five-Year-Old Italian Girl Hit by Steam Train-Died in Hospital with Fractured Skull-Local Mention,

A five-year-old Italian girl. Asunca Perillo, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincenzo Perillo of 43 North Main street, was struck Wednesday morning by the southbound train due at Norwich at 9.62 o'clock, and died with a fractured skull at the Backus hospital two hours and a half later.

With several companions the girl was walking on the railroad track on her way to the parochial school, when the accident occurred at a point in the rear of the Reliance worst d mill. The child was carried into the station on the train and was attended by Dr. D. J. Shahan in the baggage room. The Shahan in the baggage room. The hild was taken home in the ambu-ance, the mother belag unwilling to save her daughter taken to the hoswilliams, gave permission to have her removed to the hospital, upon advice of Dr. Shahan, and the ambulance was again called about 10.30, arriving at the hospital with the injured girl shortly after 11. She was then in a morlbund condition, and gasping for breath and she died within a few minutes of her arrival. The back part of her skull was badly fractured and one shoulder was broken. There were a number of physicians at the hospital, having just concluded an operation, but they were unable to do anything for the little sufferer.
